

INDRA, who struck 'him,- with 'the thunderbolt* upon/

Ms mountain -like • shoiilder₃ like one emasculated.

who -pretends to viiility-: then YRITBA, mutilated of-many, members, slept. : . • ' '

8. The waters, that delight the minds (of _____ men) _____, flow over him, recumbent on this earth ;
as _____ a _____ river (bursts through) its broken (banks). AHI has _____ been prostrated beneath, the feet of the waters, _____ which VRITBA, by his might, had obstructed.

-9, The mother of YRITEA was bending over her son, when ImmA struck her nether part with his shaft So the mother was above; and the son underneath ; and DINU^a slept (with her son), like a COW .

with its calf.

10. The waters • carry off the. nameless body of

YBITRA, tossed into the midst of the never-stopping, never-resting currents. The foe of I^{DEA} has slept through a long darkness.

11. The waters, the "wives of the destroyer."¹¹ guarded by AHI, stood obstructed, like the cows by

PANI : but, by slaying VRITSA, IHD&A set open the .cave. -that had confined them.

12. When the single resplendent VREEBJL returned the blow (which had been inflicted), INBEA, by thy thunderbolt, thou becamest (furious), like a

* Ddnu is derived from 'do, to cut or destroy, or from J}0?w, tke
"wife of JTasyapa, and mother of tlie Ddhavas or Titans.

^b Ddsapatnih. Ddsa is said to be a name of Vritra, as the destroyer of all things, or all lioly *acts,—^he whg ddsw/eiti